

Steps to Federal Student Aid

What You Need to Complete the FAFSA

It's time to fill out the mother of all financial aid forms: the FAFSA. Don't worry; it's easier than you think! Before you sit down to complete the form, make sure you have all the necessary materials. You'll find that the form seems much simpler when you're prepared with all the information you need.

You'll need:

- Your Social Security card and driver's license, and/or alien registration card if you are not a US citizen.
- Your income tax returns, W-2 forms and 1040 forms for the previous year. If you're married, you'll also need your spouse's documents.
- Your parents' income tax returns, W-2 forms and 1040 forms for the previous year (if you are dependent).
- Records and documentation of other untaxed income received such as welfare benefits, Social Security income, veteran's benefits, and military or clergy allowances.
- Current bank statements, and records of stocks, bonds, mutual funds and other investments.
- Current mortgage information.
- Business or farm records (if applicable).
- Records relating to any unusual family financial circumstances, such as unusually high child care costs, death, divorce and loss of unemployment. (These aren't required, but they could influence the amount of aid received.)
- Title IV Institution Codes for each school you are applying to. You can get this code from the school, or you can use Financial Aid's Title IV School Code Database. The school codes for universities and colleges in Missouri and Kansas are provided for your convenience.

Once you've assembled all the necessary materials, filling out the FAFSA should be a fairly simple task. Remember to fill out your forms sooner rather than later—you don't want to put something as important as your financial aid off until the last minute. Also, make copies of all documents and keep them with a copy of your completed FAFSA.

What Is a Federal Student Aid PIN and Why Do I Need One?

Your Federal Student Aid PIN is the personal identification number you use when you visit certain U.S. Department of Education websites. When you type in your PIN at these sites, you are saying either "Yes, it's really me—please show me the personal information about me on this site" or "Please accept my PIN as my signature on this online form."

What are some of the uses for my PIN?

You can use your PIN to

- sign your online Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSN[®]) at www.fafsa.gov;
- review what federal student aid you have received in the past by visiting the National Student Loan Data system at www.nslds.ed.gov.

or

- sign federal student loan contracts online;
- find out whether your FAFSA has been processed at www.fafsa.gov; or
- correct information you reported on your FAFSA at www.fafsa.gov.

Visit www.pin.ed.gov/pin_uses.htm for more ways you can use your PIN.

How do I get a PIN?

Go to www.pin.ed.gov and provide a few pieces of information.

PIN Checklist

Here's what you need to get your PIN:

- your Social Security number
- your full and correct last name
- your full and correct first name
- your middle initial
- your date of birth
- your street address
- your e-mail address (optional)

You will be given the option of creating your own PIN or having the site create one for you. If the site creates one for you, you can choose to have your PIN displayed immediately on the screen. Otherwise, you can request that your PIN be mailed to you, or you can choose to receive an e-mail that will give you the link to a site where you can access your PIN.

We won't send your PIN to you in the E-mail itself for security reasons. Instead, we'll ask you for some personal information to identify yourself before we show you your PIN.

What else do I need to know about my PIN? Keep your PIN in a safe place or memorize it. Never tell anyone else your PIN, even if they are helping you fill out the FAFSA. Remember, your PIN is your signature. Protect it!

One of your parents might need a PIN as well. If you need to provide information about your parents on the FAFSA, one of your parents will have to sign the application. He or she can sign electronically with his or her own PIN. Not sure whether you will need to put your parents' information on the FAFSA? Check out "Am I Dependent or Independent?" at www.studentaid.ed.gov/pubs or call 1-800-4-FED-AID (1-800-433-3243).

You can use your PIN again next year. Your PIN (and your parent's PIN) will not expire at the end of the school year, and you can continue to use it in the future to renew your FAFSA, sign loan contracts, etc. If your parent has more than one child in college, that parent can use the same PIN to sign FAFSAs for every child.

Avoid Mistakes on Your FAFSA

A mistake on your FAFSA can delay the processing of your application for financial aid. To avoid errors, get started early and use the online version of the FAFSA. The online FAFSA has built-in "edit checks" that can catch and prevent many errors. If you use a printed version of the FAFSA, be sure to proofread your application before you submit it.

The IRS Data Retrieval Tool can be used to copy the answers to some FAFSA questions directly from your federal income tax return. If you do not modify those answers, those questions will not be subject to verification. This will reduce the likelihood that your FAFSA will be selected for verification, saving you time and frustration.

You do not have to wait until you file your federal income tax returns to file the FAFSA. Some states have very early deadlines for state grants, and some states award their grants on a first-come, first-served basis. Some people will file their federal income tax returns early, prior to completing their FAFSA. Others will file the FAFSA first and use the IRS Data Retrieval Tool at a later date to update the relevant data elements after filing their federal income tax returns.

Use the Pre-Application Worksheet to insure you've gathered all the necessary information. The worksheet is updated every year.

Avoid the most-common mistakes:

- The most frequent mistake made on the printed form is leaving a field blank. If the answer is zero or the question does not apply to you, write in a zero. If you leave a question blank, the processor will assume that you forgot to answer.
- Use the 1040 federal tax return for income reporting and reporting taxes paid. If you use your W-2 and 1099 forms, compare them with the previous year's income tax return to make sure you did not overlook any source of income, such as interest and dividends.
- Don't forget to report all the required sources of untaxed income. These include Social Security, child support and workers compensation/disability income.
- Report your correct marital status. If you plan to file as a married student, you must be married on or before the date that you sign your FAFSA.
- If your parents are divorced, your step-parent's financial information must be reported in addition to the financial information for your custodial parent. Include yourself in the household size. Even if you didn't live there during the previous year, you should always include yourself as part of your parent's household.
- Don't forget to sign the application. If you're filing as a dependent, both you and your parents must sign. If you file online, you and your parents can sign the form electronically using your PIN numbers.
- Remember to file on time. Priority for programs with limited funds is often given to students who file the FAFSA as soon after January 1st as possible.
- As with all forms and applications, make sure you read the instructions and questions carefully. If you're unclear about a question or are having trouble filling out the FAFSA, check the FAQ section on the FAFSA Web site, or call the Federal Student Aid Information Center at 1-800-4-FED-AID (1-800-433-3243).
- On the paper form, follow instructions with regard to using a pen or pencil
